Mustard Seed Communities

Caring For The Most Vulnerable

Mustard Seed Communities International is a not-for-profit organization that began in 1978 as a home for children with disabilities who had been abandoned or orphaned to the streets of Jamaica, West Indies. More than 30 years later, Mustard Seed Communities provides Caring, Sharing and Training to children, youth and adults in 15 communities throughout the Caribbean, Central America, and Africa, with over 20 outreach programs.

At the forefront of Mustard Seed's expansion is the creation of village communities for orphaned babies, children with disabilities and special needs, families living with HIV/AIDS, pregnant teens and battered women.

Mustard Seed Communities, Inc. (USA) exists to financially and spiritually support Mustard Seed Communities International. Established in 1996 as a not-for-profit, federally tax exempt corporation, our goal is to improve the economic, social and spiritual conditions of the communities we serve. Mustard Seed Communities, Inc. (USA) sends volunteers, donated goods and money to the countries that we serve and provides support for the various economic initiatives established in these countries.
